Breakthrough innovation for saving lives
and prevention of domestic violence

In memory of our beloved Michal Sela

Michal Sela Forum

Dear Members of the Michal Sela Accelerator,

Together, we have taken the first steps on our journey towards fulfilling the vision of the Michal Sela Forum: ending the murder of women in Israel. Just like time travel, our journey will lead us to a futuristic world in which innovative, life-saving solutions will be accessible within our homes. This sort of innovation will require great sensitivity and a clear commitment to maintaining individual privacy. Our journey will extract us from today's shameful reality and will turn issues like the murder of women and domestic violence into things of the past. Israel will grow into a world leader in eliminating domestic violence, following the route it has taken to become an anti-terrorism and start-up superpower.

You were the first group of pioneers who responded to the Michal Sela Forum's call to arms. You listened eagerly to both your hearts and your heads. Armed with your keyboards, you were the first recruits to fight on the front line in the battle to overcome violence against women through technological innovation.

Whoever dares to take those first pioneering steps will be remembered forever. I thank you for your contributions on our journey towards a social revolution – a journey which will give meaning to the completely unnecessary death of my younger sister, Michal Sela, of blessed memory.

Especial thanks to Rimon Tubin, a visionary and a doer, who read the article I published in Ynet ten months ago – 'Technology could have saved my sister' – and decided to devote his professional experience and spare time to our cause, free of charge. Rimon conceived the Michal Sela Accelerator, and set up a community within the Forum comprised of tech experts and start-up founders who collaborate with one another. The means is no less important than the end.

Many thanks for this milestone on our emotional, empowering, restorative, and necessary journey. A journey which saves lives.

With my blessings for a year of healing,
And with excitement and expectations for the future,

Lili Ben-Ami
Chairwoman, Michal Sela Forum
Michalsela.org.il

Beloved Michal Sala Forum Entrepreneurs, and our partners who have given from the bottom of their hearts.

Proud we are all here together as a family. What unites us is the vision of 0 murdered and willing to stand up and take action. In the spirit of values, entrepreneurship, innovation and technological capabilities.

Lily Ben Ami's article from January 2020 creamed skin and tendons. Lily wrote that technological initiatives could have saved her beloved sister Michal Sala. For me the journey began almost 30 years ago when my dear classmate Einav Rogel was murdered. So I was a fighter in top unit in the army but no weapon I had could help.

A partnership of fate and a way was cut with Lily at that meeting in my office in March 2020. We promised that no force would stop us. Today with you we are building a protective wall for those who need it so much. You came to Hackathon out of giving and a competitive spirit. It remains but today you have an impressive toolbox built thanks to the partnership with the 8200 and 8200 impact alumni organization in particular led by Chen Shmilo. You have received unique content alongside impressive mentors. The alumni organization of the College of Management led by Lior Cohen opened your heart and you won inspiring personal mentors and a series of groundbreaking lectures.

I am proud to be part of the College of Management alumni and together with partners who are friend to lead a social academy.

You are our pride, social entrepreneurs are the pioneers of the 21st century.

Lily laughs at me for loving you like children. Lily is right this time too.

I am very proud of you and know that with determination and partnership another long and challenging road awaits us.

During a visit to the Peres Center for Peace and Innovation with the 3 winning teams in Hackathon, they shared that when they asked Shimon Peres at the end of his life what he did not have, he replied "I did not dream far enough."

I tell you, dream, dream, dream... and we are here to fulfill the dream with you,

Rimon tubin
Director of Michal Sela Accelerator

Dear Entrepreneurs,

As of this writing, the news headlines are updating on the murder of two more women by their spouses. This is tragic news, but unfortunately it is not surprising. Violence against women is a global epidemic that does not miss Israeli society either. The Covid-19 pandemic we have been experiencing since the beginning of 2020 has increased the risk of women and children being in their own homes, and has even increased the risk group due to the severe health and economic crisis.

In the face of these difficulties, you have chosen to stand up and take action. This is not a trivial act, it is no longer an act of blessed volunteering in the community, but rather a brave decision to invest your time and energy in developing technological solutions. Some of you have even overcome the violence that has been directed at you, raised your head and taken the initiative to bring innovation and technology into the important fight to prevent domestic violence in Israel and around the world. In recent months, 8200 Impact program of 8200 Alumni Association has accompanied you on the first steps in the world of technological and social entrepreneurship. It was a privilege to establish the Michal Sala Accelerator and lead it together with the dear partners from the Michal Sala Forum.

Very quickly we became acquainted with a wonderful team of entrepreneurs, who combine true desire, skills and experience in many domains.

You were privileged to be in the first round of the innovative and groundbreaking activity led by Lily Ben Ami, chair of the forum, together with Rimmon Tobin, Co-Director of Accelerator alongside other dear partners. Life as an entrepreneur is not full of pleasures, but entrepreneurship in the field of technological impact comes from the soul and often brings with it satisfaction.

I wish you to continue to do good, develop advanced technological products and measure their social impact over time. Only thanks to your activity can we one-day reach the desired goal - zero women murdered by their spouses in the State of Israel.

Good luck,
Chen Shmilo

HearMe creates a powerful community, where domestic violence bystanders lend a voice to those who got silenced.

A bystander hears a violent case, opens 'HearMe Bot' that interacts with him\her through a questionnaire, and allows him\her to send a recording & location.

'HearMe Classifier' receives the report and applies a set of algorithms to classify it into the right severity level, that is then presented in 'HearMe Control' dashboard.

'HearMe' customers are municipal authorities personnel that increase their visibility over domestic violence reports in their controlled area.

Stop. Report. Save Lives.

AWARE is a digital tool built to raise your awareness that you might be in an abusive relationship or environment, and keep you safe.

AWARE will give you the data and with it the power to decide. Digital abuse is one of the many faces of domestic violence.

Our algorithms are built to learn your behaviour and will run in your phone background until someone else uses your phone. At that point, AWARE will detect the unusual use and send a personalized warning to you and to the trustees you defined in the installation stage.

StayTuned uses voice recognition, audio analysis & AI in order to detect violence situations in real time.

Activated by voice triggers or fully automated, our platform identifies unordinary, violent situations and alerts pre-defined contacts and relevant authorities with an untraceable, location-based report.

All recordings are securely saved in the cloud in order to provide evidence to be used in court.

Data collected will be used to build common behavioural patterns in order to provide escalation predictions for early alert.

Safe and Sound is an emergency platform for Domestic Violence Victims. The solution we offer is Voice-Based and will enable people to call for help at any time, no matter if they have physical access to their smartphone or not.

Using an integration of many different technologies, each user will be able to define specific "Key-Words" which by saying them the system will start working and will activate features such as location sharing with trusted contacts, recording of the situation, emergency call to the authorities and many more.

All features are modular and the user can choose which of them to use. Besides that, if the user suffers from digital abuse too, there is an option to make the app fully invisible and running in the background.

More Than Once creates a database of domestic violence abusers based on victims' testimonies, police records, criminal charges, court ruling and journalistic sources.

The victim can fill out a form telling her story and the identity of her abuser, and the system informs her in case there is a match and the abuser already exists on database.

We believe this information will lead to the understanding that the abuser acted in this way more than once, that the victim might be in danger. The listener will eventually encourage the victim to act by asking for professional help and in that way save her from potential murder
